

CLOF 2008 Fall Meeting October 16-17, 2008

Pittsburgh, PA

Hosted by FedEx Ground

THEME

Business Simulation in a Networked Environment

SPEAKERS

- > AJ O'Brien, TRI Corporation
- > FedEx Ground Profile Discussion

THE CHIEF LEARNING OFFICER FORUM

The CLOF connects senior executives responsible for enterprise-wide learning and development with their peers in other leading companies. This network is designed to take learning & development to the next level at a time when it's increasingly common for companies to view talent as a major source of competitive advantage. Members of this network are a select group of the world's top CLO's.

MEMBER COMPANIES INCLUDE

Procter & Gamble, Sun Microsystems, Bausch & Lomb, Macy's Inc., US Coast Guard, Merck, Sentry Insurance, General Mills, Hyundai Motor America, Johnson & Johnson, Texas Instruments, Nielsen Company, Electronic Arts, Cox Communications, Federal Aviation Administration, Wal-Mart, Warner Bros. Entertainment, Disney, Bristol-Meyers Squibb, Wm. Wrigley, McDonald's, McAfee Inc., CIGNA Corporation, Hitachi, Abbott Laboratories, Symantec Corporation, Liberty Mutual, Maersk, Delta Airlines

MEMBERSHIP BENEFITS

Executive Networks creates a unique environment where network members are comfortable sharing, learning, and collaborating with one another.

- > We keep the network group small and facilitate trust and interaction in an intimate and supportive environment
- > True peer relationships are emphasized and substitutes are not allowed
- > Members drive content, so topics and discussions are always timely and relevant
- > Network Executive Directors are experts in their field; they actively manage the network and establish strong relationships with individual members

- > Our Online Peer Networking system provides 24/7 access to a rich community of senior executives across Executive Networks' 11 networks
- > Members tap into the collective knowledge and wisdom of over 300+ members from 225+ leading organizations

MEMBER FEEDBACK

"Our last meeting in Dallas was the best yet... Executive Networks membership has provided me with resources, role models, ideas, many best practices and inspiration that has supported both my career and [our company's] success! Keep up the great work!"

"The meeting content and locale were wonderful. I benefited considerably from the capable presenters and their material. As to the hotel, it was super. A relaxing, yet stimulating environment—beautiful artwork, lovely appointments in the rooms, meeting space was a roomy and convenient—a top-drawer choice. It was great seeing some folks again and meeting new colleagues. I am honored and amazed each time I step into the group. Thanks for the data you analyzed/shared as well as your leadership and encouragement."

CONTACT

Teri Frangie
925-938-8038
tfrangie@executivenetworks.com

Executive Networks, Inc.
415-399-9797
www.executivenetworks.com